

Tectonic Geomorphology

The surface results from complex interactions between tectonic, climate and surface processes. From a numerical perspective, this course will discuss exhumation processes in tectonically active regions, flow hydrology and landforms.

This 3-day course is dedicated to honours students and postgraduate geoscientists keen to develop a practical expertise in tectonic geomorphology using Badland.